Our free half-day Learning Days are open to Year 12/Year 13 students who are interested in studying one of the subjects that Newman University offers. These events will be useful for students studying A-level or BTEC Level 3, to open up our wide-range of subjects as realistic options for their undergraduate studies and future careers.

We welcome group bookings from schools and colleges, but also are keen for students to attend independently, subject to the appropriate authorization from their school or college.

Each day will begin at 9:40, and end at 13:00, with an optional 45 minute campus tour bringing the day to a close at 13:45. In the process of each morning students will experience taster sessions on rotation and hear experienced lecturers and researchers share insights. They will have the opportunity to meet current undergraduates and talk to them about university life, and will also be able to meet other 6th Form and college students from across the region.

Learning Days will hopefully run in November and June of the 2021/2022 academic year. Please see the Newman University website for further details. To find out more email learningdays@newman.ac.uk.
